

The Broadoaks Professional Development Institute

Building on a Tradition of Excellence Since 1906

The Broadoaks Professional Development Institute (PDI) is a one- to five-day program designed to help teaching professionals implement a developmentally based approach to active learning in their own classrooms and home-based settings. The program includes workshops on selected topics, as well as opportunities to work with children in the company of Broadoaks demonstration teachers. Educators from many parts of the United States and Europe have attended Broadoaks Professional Development Institutes.

Broadoaks PDI Includes:

- * Up to five full days of seminars and fieldwork on specific topics determined in advance by PDI instructors and representatives of the schools/agencies contracting for services
- * Scheduled follow-up activities
- * Instructional materials--sample lesson plans and lots of ideas
- * Co-teaching opportunities in Broadoaks' classrooms (Learn by doing!)
- * Continental breakfast, lunch, and afternoon refreshments each day

Program Costs

Five-Day PDI: $1,400 per person for the five-day institute. Follow-up consultation available at an additional charge.

One-Day to Four-Day Institutes: $300 per person per day.

Program costs subject to change
